

Your audit expertise is worth more than one program

PECB

A fully funded route to PECB ISO/IEC 27001 Lead Auditor certification, for CMMC Certified Assessors and Lead CMMC Certified Assessors

Since CMMC Phase 2 was suspended in July, a lot of qualified assessors have found themselves with less work and less certainty than they had six months ago. The reform task force reports in September. What comes after that is anyone’s guess.

We cannot fix that. What we can do is make sure the skills you have built are not tied to the fate of a single program.

ISO/IEC 27001 is the international standard for information security management, and its Lead Auditor credential is recognized in every market where information security is regulated, including the defense and federal contracting world you already work in. The audit discipline is the same. The evidence-based approach is the same. What changes is the framework, and that is learnable.

For the next few months, we are covering the entire cost of getting there.

WHAT YOU GET

A package worth thousands of dollars, at no cost:

- PECB ISO/IEC 27001 Lead Auditor eLearning course, trainer-led video and full self-study materials, at your own pace
- Two exam attempts, your initial sitting and one retake
- Certification application fee
- First-year Annual Maintenance Fee

From year two, standard maintenance terms apply, currently $130 per year plus CPD.

WHO QUALIFIES

You hold an active, verifiable CMMC Certified Assessor or Lead CMMC Certified Assessor credential. That is the only requirement.

If you already hold an ISO/IEC 27001 Lead Auditor certificate issued by another accredited certification body, submit it with your application. We will review it and, where the evaluation supports it, issue your PECB certification without further examination.
