Top Five High-Paying Job Positions You Can Pursue with an ISO 9001 Certification
Quality management is an essential component of any organization, regardless of their size, business profile, or the type of products or services they offer. It is one of the main driving forces of customer satisfaction and loyalty.

A certification on quality management will help you to put the necessary controls in place within your organization in order to ensure that there are fewer defects within your products and more profitable business for your organization.

PECB offers the ISO 9001 training courses and certifications that demonstrate the holder’s professional capabilities related to quality management systems (QMS) based on 9001.
TOP FIVE U.S. HIGH-PAYING JOB POSITIONS IN THE QUALITY MANAGEMENT INDUSTRY
Based on the information provided by PayScale, Glassdoor, and Indeed, the average salary of a Senior Director of Quality Assurance is $181,790 per year.

A Senior Director of Quality Assurance is mainly responsible for:

- Directing QA activities
- Supervising and mentoring staff
- Developing budgets
- Managing product complaints and other requirements from a quality assurance viewpoint
- Training staff

Senior Directors of Quality Assurance should be aware of the latest quality management standards and apply the knowledge of such standards within the organization.
2. Senior Quality Manager

Based on the information provided by PayScale, Glassdoor, and Ziprecruiter, the average salary of a Senior Quality Manager is $118,822 per year.

A Senior Quality Manager is mainly responsible for:

- Designing quality control measures
- Reviewing all documents related to quality
- Investigating any form of quality-related noncompliance
- Updating the quality control procedures
- Ensuring that quality is managed through all departments

Senior Quality Managers should be able to work closely with analysts and other professionals in order to better manage the daily work and quality within the organization.
Based on the information provided by PayScale, Glassdoor, and Ziprecruiter, the average salary of a Quality Assurance Director is $116,486 per year.

A Quality Assurance Director is mainly responsible for:

- Overseeing the procedures related to testing of the products
- Creating quality-related documents and updating procedures
- Maintaining the quality of products and enforcing quality standards
- Preparing quality reports
- Ensuring that the organization’s products meet customer requirements

Quality Assurance Directors should be detail-oriented and have good communication skills. A good Quality Assurance Director should also have analytical and problem-solving skills.
4. Quality Management Director

Based on the information provided by PayScale, Glassdoor, and Zippia, the average salary of a Quality Management Director is $107,095 per year.

A Quality Management Director is mainly responsible for:

- Supervising the quality management team
- Overseeing the filing and storage process
- Providing reports on quality management to upper-level management
- Training new staff regarding quality management issues
- Implementing quality management procedures

Quality Management Directors should have excellent organizational and management skills, and be able to pay attention to details.
5. Quality Manager

Based on the information provided by PayScale, Glassdoor, and Ziprecruiter, the average salary of a Quality Manager is $85,410 per year.

A Quality Manager is mainly responsible for:

- Developing quality control tests
- Inspecting products
- Writing reports regarding the quality of products
- Setting quality management standards and procedures
- Measuring quality performance and suggesting opportunities for improvement

Quality Managers should be able to coordinate the activities for meeting the quality standards set for a specific product or service.
PECB’s ISO 9001 training courses help you enhance your knowledge and advance your career in quality management. ISO 9001 certification can be a tiebreaking competitive advantage.

Note: The salaries of the above-mentioned positions are not definitive and may change with time and industry development.